It was necessary that we should mitting it, it was still 5 per cent, more than ought to be paid. We ought to have security that these dues should not exceed 21 per cent. Mr. Johnson thought that the general opinion was in favour of what had fallon from the Chairman on this subject; and to show the length, the remainder is summarised from the above paper. I had just received from the Commissioner of the goods in transitu, instituted a tax upon each hong in the interior where silk is collected.

Even if it were possible to ascertain exactly the measure of the tax, it would, doubtless, be asserted that persons, not produce, were the subject of it, and it is highly improbable that the Chinese would dare to come forward to give formal evidence against the local authorities, Under such circumstances, it appeared to have that the proposed proclamation would be entirely curred in the views which had, been expressed: All would prefer putting up with evils that they were aware of, rather than render themselves liable to others of which they knew nothing Mr. Porter then proposed the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. C. J. King.

"I.—This Meeting considerathat the proposed modification of the Treaty as to Transit Dues. by which 24 per cent. should be made phyable at the ports of entry and cease to be optional, is the least satisfactory of all forms by which the levy could be collected, and contrary to the general interest of trade; and that it would only add by so much to the cost of taking goods into the interior, as local dues, in some shape or other, are sure to be superadded—and this meeting, therefore, still adheres to the views expressed in the Chamber of Commerce Memorial of October

The Chairman read the anguestion in the

Mr. Johnson thought the Minister's reply seemed to touch the very foundation of the grievance. It said one objection of the Peking authorities to the measure proposed by the Chamber was, that the Provincial authorities would get too great a share of the revenue. But the transit tax was expressly authorized in order that the Provincial Authorities might not be deprived of their revenue, and if the proceeds went to Peking, it followed that the Provincial Government would be necessitated to impose other burthens to get an income. The Chairman said that there was another point worthy of consideration. There were other dues collected by the provincial authorities at the present time, with reference to which Sir Rutherford in his last despatch

"It has been contended, on the part of the Chinese Government, that not only does the non-reference to them in the sequel, provide for their collection according to time, place, and Government necessities, by leaving their a declarer qu'il n'existe aucune affaire entre cumetance, instead of fixing them once for all la Legation de l'Empereur et le Tsong-ly-la Legation de l'Empereur et le Tsong-ly-Yamen de nature à troubler leurs bonnes the light of the XXVIII article of the Tienteln relations. Tous les bruits qui ent couru à Treaty, the Chinese Government has felt constrained to admit that, as regards British imports at least, there is a distinct limitation to the taxing power; and that these, baving paid the tariff duties, should be conveyed into the interior free of all further charges, except a transit duty: and that, as regards both imports and exports, certificated goods, while in transit. were exempt from all other charges, and this whether in foreign or Chin se handa."

This, he thought, implied that the Chinese had a right to take out transit passes if they. think fit. H.E. had laid stress on the injustice done to the Chinese by the sale of transit passes at Ningbo but did not the extract which he had read, show that the Chinese had a perfect right to take out these passes i Mr. Johnson could not see the injustice done to the Chinese revenue by the sale of transit passes to the Chinese. All that could be urged n regard to the immorality of the traffic, was so far were immoral, but so long as their acts did not injuriously affect the public interests by defrauding the revenue, he did not see that the foreign authorities were called upon to take any cognizance of thom. He repeated, that he could not see that any injustice was done to the Chinese revenue. If the transit due clause was ped by foreign vessels to a native port, why subject it to a foreign tax? Surely the imposition of the duty levied by treaty upon foreign trade, made the subject of such duty foreign trade. Take, for example, the export of cotton rom Ningpo to Hankow. If the cotton were shipped in a foreign vessel, it paid a foreign duty much in excess of that levied on the same article conveyed by native craft.
